DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with George Yee on 9/26/2006.

The application has been amended as follows:

Please amend claims 10, 16, 17, and 20 to read as follows.

10. A disk array system comprising:

a disk controller; and a disk array connected to the disk controller, said disk array being composed of a plurality of drive boards each mounting thereon a plurality of disk drives, and a common board on which the a plurality of drive boards being detachably mounted, wherein said disk controller defines a part of the drive boards in the disk array as a first drive board group and the rest as a second drive board group, and manages a plurality of disk drives mounted on different drive boards in the first drive board group as a logical group, wherein said disk controller recognizes drive boards belonging to said first disk drive board group as active drive boards and each drive board belonging to said second disk drive board group as a spare drive board, the disk controller comprising:

means for reorganizing logical groups when failure occurs in any active disk drive belonging to the first drive board group, after storing the same data as that stored in disk drives on the faulty board on which a faulty drive is mounted into corresponding one of the disk drives on a substitution board selected from the second drive board group, so that each logical group to which one of disk drives on the faulty board belongs includes a new disk drive on the substitution board in place of the disk drive on the faulty board; and means for informing a maintenance terminal that the faulty board is replaceable after the reorganization of the logical groups is completed.

16. The disk array system according to Claim 10, wherein:

said disk controller performs data read and data write in said disk array, and said means for reorganizing logical groups adds said substitution board to the active drive boards and excludes said faulty board from the active drive boards after storing data into the disk drives on the substitution board

17. A failure recovering control method executed by a disk controller in a disk array system composed of the disk controller and a disk array connected to the disk controller, the disk array being composed of a plurality of drive boards each mounting thereon a plurality of disk drives, and a common board on which the plurality of drive boards being detachably mounted,

wherein said disk controller defines a part of the drive boards in the disk array as a first drive board group and the rest as a second drive board group, manages a plurality of disk drives mounted on different drive boards in said first drive board group as a logical group, wherein said disk controller recognizes drive boards belonging to said first disk drive board group as active drive boards and each drive board belonging to said second disk drive board group as a spare drive board, the method comprising the steps of:

selecting a substitution board to be used in place of a faulty board on which a faulty drive is mounted from said second drive board group when failure occurs in any active disk drive belonging to said first drive board group; storing the same data as that stored in each disk drive on the faulty board into disk drives on the substitution board; reorganizing logical groups to each of which a disk drive on the faulty board belongs into new configuration including a new disk drives on the substitution board in place of the disk drive on the faulty board; and informing a maintenance terminal that the faulty board is replaceable after the logical groups are reorganized.

20. The failure recovering control method according to Claim 17, wherein:
said disk controller performs data read and data write in said disk array, adds said substitution board having been completed data storing to the active drive boards, and excludes said faulty board from the active drive boards through said reorganization of logical group performed when failure occurs in any active disk drive.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-20 are allowed.
